

Thank you so much for walking this journey with me.

This is your cover sheet and print alignment test page. MAKE SURE YOU PRINT THIS PAGE.

Change your scale % until you see what you like best for size. A few notes:

1. Print this cover page to test the size, but also once you have the size you like it acts as your cutting guide.

2. Print front to back. Test a couple of pages, front to back (such as page 18-19). Make sure the binding edge or flip-on-edge is what you need. For instance, on my own printer, I print as:

- Landscape View

- 70%

- Double-Sided Printing, Flip on short edge binding

- 28 lb bright white paper (thinner, but thicker than regular printer paper) or 32 lb paper (thicker feel). I prefer 32 for my personal planner, but for my Engineer's Planner, I will use 28 lb paper or regular printer paper.

Once I have mine printed, I take it to an office supply store and have them trim the edges. It's around $3-4 for them to do this. The pages are offset on purpose with more margin on the left side to allow for your coil, discs, or the rings of your planner.

If you prefer to trim at home, just do all sheets of one side at a time so you keep the cutting guide aligned.

After trimming, insert into your favorite planner (I like the rings of my Arc planner) or punch and wire bind it.

I then take it back home and hole punch the pages to fit into whatever planner system I like best. You can also make a planner cover if you are super crafty by laminating a trimmed-to-size piece of scrapbook paper, or super cute patterned file folder, etc. Just trim to size, laminate, punch, and then bind.

You can also have your favorite office supply store coil bind it from around $5-10. Before I received a binder for Christmas, I could cut, bind with a clear cover, heavy white back, and navy blue coil for $8.

Cheering for you,

Karen

About

Us

I've always prided myself on having it all together. Squeezing every possible minute out of a 24-hr day. Making my to-do list and knocking it out of the park. But little by little the Lord started showing me all of the things I was responsible for. And how constantly working on my own to-do list to accomplish grandiose things was at times, allowing my blessings to fall to the wayside.

In a nutshell, I wasn't stewarding them well, and over time I realized it was me, not God, that was making my to-do list. For the first time, I looked at all the blessings I'd been given differently. My home (fortress). My family... My finances... My faith... And my circle of influence (field)... Instead of making long to-do lists that I never got accomplished, I asked myself AND God, "What one small thing can I do to steward each of these areas well this week?" I continue to find that one small thing can make a huge impact. I can do small things. You can do small things. And those small things can change your whole world.

God tells us how HE feels about those small things over and over again in His Word.

"His master replied, 'Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Come and share your master's happiness!'" ~ Jesus, in the Parable of the Talents, Matthew 25:23

"Do not despise these small beginnings, for the Lord rejoices to see the work begin..."
~Zechariah 4:10

And let's not forget the entire Parable of the Mustard Seed!

At the same time, there's no denying I'm a dreamer, and I truly believe God gives us each dreams and goals. In this planner, there's room for the small things... and room for those dreams, as well as space to pray, to praise, and to doodle.

Here, you have space to take care of the things God has entrusted to you, and space to be uniquely you.

The sand dollar? It's our official logo. Our mascot. Our symbol. You'll find it sprinkled throughout the pages of your planner. If you look, you'll see five legs of the sand dollar - one for each of our areas of stewardship. I love that, like us, the five parts are distinct, yet unmistakably part of the whole, to remind us to think "big picture."

And once it's lived its natural life? The sand dollar leaves behind one final legacy. Five tiny fossilized doves of peace live inside the center of every sand dollar.

I believe we can leave a legacy long after we're gone-just like the sand dollar-by taking care of our five small things. You can do it. I'm

How to use this planner

Set God-Sized Dreams or Goals

You have space for five big goals. They don't have to correlate to the Five F's, but it's ok if they do! For each big goal, you'll write down your vision, and the check points you need.

Need an example? Just see below!

Big Goals, Big Dreams

Goal 1	Open a cupcake business to sell my cupcakes	Completion Date
Vision	Be the premier cupcake store in Boise, fully replace my veterinarian income, and serve the Lord with my profits	Reward

Consider your faithful five. Is there anything special going on in each area this week? What actions do you need to schedule during the week to steward your gifts well this week? What one small thing will make a huge difference?

These five lines are for your big life goals that you set in the goals section. What specific actions will you need to take to reach those monthly milestones and quarterly check points? Don't worry if you don't have five big goals. Just fill in what you have?

Misc is just that - whatever you need this space to be.

We thought about keeping "Fitness" as an F, and it is. BUT it's so important to take care of you, we made it a daily box. You can't steward well if you aren't your best you. Make time for your personal health each day.

What Are your Stewardship Areas?

The Big Five	What that might look like for you	These are the things you'll work on weekly to steward The Big Five.
	My relationship with God My understanding of His Word My time with Him My trust in Him My daily walk with Him My love for Him
	Spouses Children Parents Extended Family My personal, physical, and emotional wellbeing
	My Home How Welcoming My Home Is How People Feel While Inside My Home My Home's Cleanliness My Hospitality
	My Income My First Fruits (Tithe) My Offering and Donations How I Manage What's Left (Vacations, Mgmt of everyday and special expenses)
	My Service At Church / School My Service In the Community My Character The Biggest Dream I Have (My Purpose or the Hidden Dreams of My Heart)

Big Goals, Big Dreams

The "Fab 5" are your weekly God-given small things - what small thing can you do in each area to make big impact? But these five FOCUS areas are goals you want to set for yourself for the year. These are dreams and goals - those lofty things you want to do like write a novel, run a 10k, buy a house or adopt internationally - but never seem to make progress.

You're going to define each goal, then on the next few pages, you'll make a plan for each goal that breaks them down by quarterly check points and months. On your weekly sheets, these will be the blocks for Goals 1-5, to take that monthly task and break it down into easily doable weekly tasks. This will help you make time for the things you steward, AND for those dreams just waiting for you to bring them to life! P.S. Don't worry if you don't have or know all of the actions just yet - start with what you DO know.
